LOBSTERS TRIM POOR OLD ELDERS

Hoon Has Local Players at His Mercy.

Gimlin's Hitting One of Chief Features of Contest.

Has Mixed Up With Some Elixir From Fountain of Youth, Which Must Be Located in Ogden.

Mayor Morris threw the first ball at the plate and President Rishel of the league was at the receiving end. The former is an old-time ball player, and it was the first time that he has loosened up his arm in many seasons. Preceding the game there was an automobile parade led by the Utah band, followed by members of the Wasatch and Oquirrh teams in uniform, autos bearing the members of the Salt Lake and Ogden clubs and several private machines, among them being a bunch of fans who wanted to know whar yer all gold this evening to see Tribune's score of the game."

The cold, gray dawn of the morning af-

The cold, gray dawn of the morning after is a dream compared with the feelings of the 700 fans who wended their wayout through the gates at the ball park yesterday with heads bowed down in deep cogitation over the manner in which Paw Gimlin's gang of Lobsters put the knock-out punch on Chief Reilley's kindergarten gang-of Elders. It might have been owing to the "high sky" that the Sait Lakers were so far off in their hitting, but at any rate the home players swung at the ball like a lot of brush leaguers. Kirby Hoon, the gent with the euphonious name, simply had the home ciub at his mercy and threw the harpoon into them without a bit of compunction.

This bad acting of the Ogden twirler continued until the seventh inning, when the Reilley bunch opened upon him and cracked out two double-sack hits and one for three bases. This broke Mr. Hoon's pick with the ancient gentleman who sildes around in the center column of the Ogden outfield and sort of has a say in the manner in which things are run, the result of which sent Kirby to the bench and Thompson to the slab. While at the time the change was apparently uncalled for—at least that's what Hoon thinks—it resulted in the game ending 7 to 3 in the Lobsters favor.

Tozer was certainly out of form, for he had nothing but a speed ball which the Ogdenites took to very readily, as the fourteen hits to their credit will testify. "Outhit at every stage of the game," is the story of yesterday's defeat in those few words. This, together with the fact that Bert Delmas had his kicking shees on and Jack Thornton's dumb play in not nalling Hausen and Clark at the second cushion in the seventh inning, when he inade the wild throw to Reilley at third, was responsible for the loss of the game. The dark and gloomy proceedings started in the first inning, when Bluth swung against one of Tozer's shoots and sent it down to Delmas, who handled it like a cat picking chestnuts out of the fire Clark sacrificed, relaying Bluth to second. Hausen was passed to first. Gimlin made the fans si Fixall being three runs for the Lobsters. This put a kibosh on the hopes of the Sait Lakers right at the start, but there eame a chance for them to yell in the lifth when Maxime Muller tore off a two-base hit, went to short on Stickney's abort hit to left, after which the speedy "Irishman" stole home, making his getaway by a clever slide over the final status. result being three runs for the Lobsters.

rishman. Side home, making his gethaway by a clever slide over the final station. 'Rabbit' Bresino put the Indian sign on the fans' hopes by making a swell pickup of Delmas' grounder and throwing his man out at first.

The seventh inning proved to be the deciding point of the afternoon's play.
Georgie Bluth led off with a single to left.
Clark followed with a double. Hausen hit to Rollley, who threw Bluth out at the plate. 'Old Pai' Gimlin came in about this time with a shot to right field for two bags and Fulmer sneaked off a single to center. Hastings fanned, but Baer and Breshno drew a hit aplece, this fusillade resulting in four runs, 'the 'Rabbit' being the last man out Leahy catching him at second when he attempted to steal.

It was all off with Reilley's bunch after the smoke had blown over, but there came a slight ray of hope in their half of the same inning. O'Brien smashed out a two-base hit and Tozer contributed a clout for three cushions. Muller clipped off a two cushion argument, and two of the Elders ambled over the rubber. Thornton sent up a foul to Clark and it was "back to the hay field" with the home team. This was the point where "Gen." Thompson was pushed into the picture and he certainly played a prominent part in the rest of the contest, allowing but one hit. That was made by Tozer in the ninth, but the "boy with the auburn locks" was caught at second on Muller's grounder to Bresino. This was rather questionable on Umpire Setley's part—and that is about all.

The one scintillating play of the afternoon was made by Stickney in the third inning, when he grabbed Hastings' drive between right and center with his gloved hand. O'Brien was another of the matines headliners, gathering in a fly from Hausen by a pretty run to short center Leahy caught an excellent game and his use of the gray matter concealed under his bonnet was a revelation to the fans. The score:

OGDEN. It was all off with Reilley's bunch after

Hand Bookmakers a Warm Bunch

Hereafter Their Arbitrary Methods Will Not Go-Good Move Made by Racing Association.

NEW YORK, May 10 -- Arbitrary methods of dealing with bettors, syndicate prices and an attempt recently to dominate the betting ring have resulted in the practical wiping out of special privileges heretofore enjoyed by the Metropolitan Turf association, composed of hookmakers on the race tracks about New At a conference attended by representatives of all the New York racing associations, it was decided there should be no further dealings with the men of the betting rings. Hereafter the grounds will be open to all, and any bookmaker who can establish his financial integrity and who desires to make a book on the races may do so.

For several years the Metropolitan men have controlled the entire space of the 'big ring,' and each week its members drew lots for positione. Non-members were not permitted to do business, except on a line behind the 'big ring,' although many of them were perhaps more responsible financially than some members of the Metropolitan association. Those in control of the racing plants have decided, however, in view of the loud complaints and open affair to a certain extent, and interference of the future as to drawing lots for positions. The turt association is a close corporation, of 200 members. Admission has always been by ballot and by the purchase of a retiring number's 'button.' Prices for these have ruled over $500 for a year or two, but when news of the action by the track authorities became known there was a quick drop to $200, at which figure one membership was after the grounds will be open to all, and any Gold Cup for Winners.

The winners of this year's State track meet will be awarded a beautiful 359 gold cup by the J. H. Leyson Jeweiry company. In order to hold the cup permanently it must be won twice. This year the indications are that it will go to the University, and Capt. Bennion and Coach Maddock both declare that they will have a permanent place fixed for it in the new gymnastum. The cup is certainly a jewei and will be well worth the winning.

case work-out two days before the race, and his trainer was unable to get him into chape again.

The horses were sent away to a good start and all three ran head and head for the first eighth, where Agile stuck his nose in front. Passing the grandstand at the first quarter. Agile and Ram's Horn had moved out, Agile leading by a length and setting a hot pace. From this time on until the tirst mile had been covered the positions were unchanged. Both horses were beautifully rated, and Ram's Horn was apparently running a fine race. As the pair swings into the stretch Martin, on Agile, let out a wrap. Alment at the same time Lyrae, on Ram's Horn, went to the bat, but to no avail. Agile, eleverly ridden by Martin, began slowly gilding away from Capt. Williame's colt, and when the wire was reached had increased his lead to three said a half lengths, and won eased up At no time during the race did Agile seem to be fully extended, and he won without having feit the touch of a whip. It was a most impressive performance, stamping Agile as one of the best three-year-olds of the year. East or West.

Heavy showers last night and early this morning left the track very muddy, and this was to some extent a factor in the race, Ram Horn not being at his best on a slow track.
